

MISCELLANEOUS.

London, August 12.

A fatal accident, the result of a scientific experiment, is reported from Berlin.

A German inventor named Lulbenthal was engaged in testing a flying machine of his own designing, when the contrivance collapsed. The consequence was that Lulbenthal fell to the ground and was killed.